

ROGER COLL

Roger Coll (b. 1979) is a ceramic artist whose work speaks with a fluidity and fluency that encompasses multiple art-historical languages in simple gestures. Originally from Badalona, Barcelona, Coll trained as an architect and sculptor at ETSA University La Salle Barcelona, Sculpture at the EASD Llotja Barcelona respectively and Ceramics at the Forma Barcelona School, EASD Pau Gargallo and EASD. He spent several years in Barcelona working in an architecture studio, eventually establishing his first ceramic studio and workshop in 2009. Now living and working in Vic, Coll has been featured in 'New Wave Clay: Ceramic Design, Art and Architecture' and has been exhibited internationally in solo and group shows since 2010, including New York, Berlin, Milan, Stockholm and London.
